Instruction of microbiome taxonomic profiling based on 16S

April 4th, 2020 - Recent studies on microbiome highlighted their importance in various environments including human where they are involved in multiple biological contexts such as immune mechanism drug response and metabolism The rapid increase of new findings in microbiome research is partly due to the technological advances in microbiome identification including the next generation sequencing technologies''Identifying Personal Genomes by Surname Inference Science

April 19th, 2020 - Sharing sequencing data sets without identifiers has bee a mon practice in genomics Here we report that surnames can be recovered from personal genomes by profiling short tandem repeats on the Y chromosome Y STRs and querying recreational genetic genealogy databases We show that a bination of a surname with other types of metadata such as age and state can be used to''Genome Biology Home page
