'which graphics cards are remended for sketchup

June 4th, 2020 - pc note one way to test whether your graphics card is supporting opengl fully the way a 3d program like sketchup requires is to disable hardware acceleration this takes the graphics card out of the equation so that graphics are fully handled by the software and the operating system normally you shouldn t do this because it typically causes a slow down in graphics performance but it can'
